

State Lists Dates For Annual Fairs

THE STATE Department of Agriculture yesterday announced the dates of county and community fairs to be held in this area during 1958.

The complete list with dates: Delaware Valley, Milford, Aug. 7-9.

Greene-Dreher-Sterling, Newfoundland, Aug. 20-23.

Blue Valley, Bangor, Aug. 20-23.

West End, Gilbert, Aug. 27.

Carbong County, Leighton, Sept. 1-7.

Reading, Reading, Sept. 7-14.

Wayne County, Honesdale, Sept. 9-13.

Florida Driver Freed From Jail

FRANK DAVISON, JR., 22, Clearwater, Fla., was released from Monroe County Jail yesterday after paying a $15 fine and $5 costs on charges of reckless driving.

Davison was arrested at 9:20 p.m. Wednesday at Collins St. and Huston Ave. by Stroudsburg police and was committed to jail for 10 days in lieu of the fine and costs by Peace Justice John C. F. Foelker.

Race

Police said Davison, an employee of an area resort, was engaged in a race with an unidentified driver when his car failed to negotiate a turn at the intersection, vaulted a curb and entered a vacant lot.

The other car left the scene after the accident.

Four persons were furnished transportation to ophthalmologists and 100 pamphlets on eye care and accident prevention were distributed.

THE Elementary Curriculum Committee of Stroud Union School District met Wednesday at the Arlington Heights School for a panel discussion.

The panel was composed of a number of teachers and supervisors employed in the district.

It consisted of Mrs. Doris Berry, Mrs. Rose Morgan, Mrs. Jean Corkhill, Mrs. Mary Gearhart, Mrs. H. Eloise Bryan, Mrs. Lydia Strait, Clarence Transue, Thomas Manley, Ralph Knauft and Roger Dunning.

The panel also answered a number of questions put to it by the committee relative to various phases of elementary education.

Appeal Brings Needed Blood

ITHICA, N. Y. (AP) — A call for blood donors for an operation in Buffalo Friday on a 15-year-old Trumansburg boy brought 300 calls, the Red Cross said.

The boy is James Dittmars, who will undergo surgery at Children's Hospital for a defective heart valve. The operation requires blood less than two hours old.

TOKYO (AP) — Communist North Korea announced in a radio broadcast yesterday a factory capable of producing more than 10 million yards of rope annually is going up at Sariwon, Whanghae province.

Monroe County Officials To Crack Down On Persons Failing To List Improvements

COUNTY officials will crack down on persons who fail to file construction improvement reports.

The full-scale investigation and enforcement of the law will begin about May 1, County Commissioners said yesterday.

By law all improvements to buildings or grounds which amount to $1,000 or more must be reported to the County assessor's office.

Local residents were notified two months ago that the law was going into effect and would be enforced. It is a state law which has been set up to become part of the overall tax equalization system in counties.

Chief Assessor George Brands told Commissioners yesterday that letters explaining the law have been sent out to 350 firms and individuals in the area.

But, he said, there has been little or no compliance with the law. Brands' office is responsible for its enforcement.

The Chief Assessor was authorized by Commissioners to begin actual crackdown measures the first of the month. He said that he and members of his staff will visit construction sites throughout the County beginning on May 1.

Persons who fail to comply with the law and do not report property improvements of $1,000 or more are subject to fine and penalties under the law.

Forms for use in reporting the improvements are available from the Chief Assessor's office.

County To Probe Political Charge

HARRISBURG (AP) — Charges that some Highway Dept. workers in Fayette County had been forced to make political contributions were turned over by the governor's office for further investigation by the Fayette County District Attorney's office yesterday.

A spokesman for Gov. Leader explained that Atty. Gen. Thomas McBride was not asked to take over the case because it is "a local matter in a local county."

Wide Interests For Fireman Of Year

DINGMANS FERRY — Delaware Township's fireman of the year has more than ordinary interest in his fire department and its quarters.

John C. Snyder, recipient of his fire company's highest honor at the age of 66, lives across the street from the new fire-house.

And, during its construction last summer, Snyder did much of the masonry work and sustained a back injury when a scaffolding fell.

Two Operations

A lifelong resident here, Snyder underwent two serious operations during the past winter, resulting in a recurrence of his back injury.

At one time or another, Snyder has had a hand in building a good part of Dingmans Ferry. In addition to more than 60 fireplaces he has built in houses here, he has constructed a number of homes, including the three in which he and his wife have lived with their sons, Leonard and Lester, and niece, Natalie.

He spent three years working on the stone mansion which is the family seat of the Joseph Bromley estate on Edgemoor Lake. He and his brother, Charles, and their father, Andrew, constructed the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd in Milford.

Snyder remembers when most of the population here was farmers. During his boyhood, there were more storms here than there are now because of travel difficulties in reaching other nearby communities.

Two Mills

There were two mills, three blacksmith shops, a number of general stores and two cobbler shops.

Between 1910 and 1920, he recalls, four hotels and eight boarding houses provided summer vacationers with a home away from home. There were no traffic problems in those days.

Despite the fact that he lives in an area surrounded by some of the best hunting and fishing sections in the state, Snyder has never taken much interest in either.

He has never been fishing, although he did hunt until the winter of 1933.

Little Mistakes

The catalogue of mistakes a driver can make on the open road is long. Some are so rash only the wildest ever make them. Some are so casual that few realize the trouble they can cause.

One of the most dangerous in the casual category is swinging onto a main highway from a side road or a road-side stop at an ill-fated moment. That happened the other day at Baytown, Tex., with terrible result.

The driver of a car whipped onto a main artery smack in front of a big gasoline truck. Cut off, the truck driver jammed on his brakes, causing his tank-trailer to jackknife and skid sideways across the road.

Behind the truck a woman was driving with her four children. She, too, hit the brake pedal hard. But she couldn't stop, and plowed broadside into the truck.

The gasoline exploded, the truck swayed and toppled on her car. The woman, her four children and the truck driver died in raging flames.

The pleasure car driver who caused the original jam-up drove off down the road. But on him—or her—rests the responsibility for this tragedy.

It occurred because that driver, like countless others, either was too thoughtless and impatient to observe the rules, or never learned how to enter a main highway.

None of us should ever drive onto a main road as if other drivers must or should stop for us. To assume that is to invite disaster like the sad episode at Baytown.

Robert S. Allen Reports ...

Nuclear Tests To Start

Washington—Those widely-discussed U. S. nuclear tests in the South Pacific will get under way this week-end with a "shot" in the megaton range—weather permitting.

Fifteen to 18 tests have been scheduled over the next three months. They will include warheads for various missiles, among the Navy's still-untried Polaris, and one explosion of a nuclear weapon at more than 150 miles in outer space.

A radio-active leak caused the shutdown of an experimental reactor at the Atomic Commission's Oak Ridge, Tenn., plant. However, there was no danger to the plant's personnel as all the radioactive material was contained inside the reactor. That's what the commission has reported to the Joint Atomic Commission.

Rep. Melvin Price (D., Ill.), chairman of the Joint Research Subcommittee, has summoned Dr. James Killian, scientific adviser to the President, for an explanation of a reported rejection of a plan to speed up development of an atomic-powered airplane.

Price is a leading advocate of this project, and wants to know why Killian and his Scientific Advisory Committee turned thumbs down on it.

Democratic Politicals—Senator Estes Kefauver, Tenn., has decided to keep hands off the hot Minnesota Democratic senatorial scramble. State railroad Commissioner Hjalmar Petersen, a leading Kefauver-for-President supporter in 1956, made a special trip to Washington to get his support for senator. But Kefauver turned Petersen down on the ground he is keeping out of primary fights this year.

Meanwhile, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson is urging Minnesota friends to support Mrs. Eugene Anderson, who was Ambassador to Denmark in the Truman Administration. She is being opposed for the senatorial nomination by Eugene McCarthy, who is privately favored by Senator Hubert Humphrey.

A quiet campaign is underway to boost New York State Commerce Commissioner Edward Dickinson for senator. Dickinson was an assistant to the late Secretary of State Edward Stettinius, and on the staff of Paul Hoffman when he headed the original Marshall Plan agency.

An intriguing political situation is developing in Nevada. Millionaire E. I. Cord has achieved a powerful grip on the State Democratic organization and appears virtually certain to get the gubernatorial nomination. He is busy behind-the-scenes seeking a "harmony" candidate to run against Republican Senator George Malone, who has announced for a third term. Prominent possibility for that is Las Vegas Mayor C.D. Baker.

New Cures — Research scientists of the National Institutes of Health will soon have major medical news for Central and South America and Africa. The scientists have scored outstanding successes in controlling some of the worst tropical diseases. Their forthcoming report will say, "The era of enormous epidemics of sleeping sickness may well be over . . . due to the development of a new antibiotic known as 'stylomycin'."

The simple practice of using salt with food may go far to stamp out centuries-old malaria. That's what another Institutes report will state, as follows: "The normal everyday dietary routine of salting food can be employed as a convenient and efficient method for stamping out malaria."

Anti-malarial drugs, pyrimethamine and chloroquine, have been successfully blended with table salt. . . Malarial attacks in prison volunteers repeatedly bitten by infected mosquitoes were suppressed. Sixteen volunteers took part in these tests at the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga."

Fan mail — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson is getting a flood of mail from all over the country asking for copies of his address before the American Society of Newspaper Editors. The Texan sharply criticized the President's anti-recession policies, and vigorously advocated more specific action and less talk about whether anything should be done. . . Senator William Proxmire (D., Wis.), is slated for unusual recognition for a "brookie." Although elected only last summer, for the vacancy of the late Senator Joe McCarthy, Proxmire is being given the place on the powerful Agriculture Committee held by the late Senator Kerr Scott (D., N.C.). Proxmire owes this exceptional recognition to Senate Democratic Leader Johnson, as a boost for the Wisconsin in his re-election battle this year. . . Contrary to general belief, the Vice President is not the second highest paid official in the federal government. That role is held by the head of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, who gets $60,000 a year. The Vice President receives $35,000, plus $10,000 expenses. The President gets $100,000, plus $50,000 expenses. The Chief Justice receives $35,500—which is $500 more than the other eight justices of the Supreme Court.

Ancient Norsemen thought that the lights of the aurora were the Valkyries riding their ghostly horses through the sky.

—By E. Simms Campbell

"Oh, I just dream the usual things—about being sawed in half, drowning in molasses and being buried alive."

Once Over As Viewed By Phillips

Rockefeller Brothers Report is a Do-It-Yourself manual for Uncle Sam. Nelson Rockefeller, explaining it on TV, flashed a genuine air-wave personality that may help him in governor's chair. But he was so smooth in dodging questions about candidacy that it was clear he was using high quality oil.

New York now has a law banning false and misleading ads on video. Take off those white coats, boys! . . . Arthur Godfrey flew the first U. S. experimental 40-passenger prop-jet plane in the Hagerstown test the other day. This makes it all the harder to understand how he keeps looking so young.

Newspaper publishers and editors met in a convention, bringing together the largest group of Americans dedicated to doing it the hard way. There is no other business with a steadier supply of headaches. A publisher or editor gets more criticism for a mistake in high and low tide than men in other businesses get for a passed dividend. These men take more abuse for a misspelled name than a bank president takes for absconding with funds. To be a newspaper publisher requires not only brains, but valor beyond the call of duty and patience in the face of unfair rap. He has to be a combination business genius, showman, guide, miracle worker, civic leader, hockey league goal tender and educator. And there are times when he is supposed to do it all without eating regularly or getting much sleep.

With his editor he must function as public information bureau, an economic expert, a specialist in all emergencies, and throw in advice to the lovelorn, tell a reader how to repair a roof and try the orphan's tear. He must regard a nervous breakdown as routine, relish insomnia as an occupational disease and patiently endure letters in every mail bawling him out because of a printer's error in giving the date of the new moon.

Bible Thought

Fight the good fight of faith. 1 Tim. 6:12.

No battle was sever won by men who lacked faith. You can do what you think you can do.

Jim Riley Says:

Dave At Odds With Yankess

Dave Besecker, Analomink, apparently caused a near-riot during Monday's Yankee-Red Sox game in Yankee Stadium.

Dave, as nearly everyone knows who knows him, is Monroe County's "leading Yankee-baiter" (hater might be a better word, but we don't use that kind of language in here). And one of Dave's favorite subjects is Mickey Mantle.

Lo and behold, Dave and brother Al, State Trooper Don Good and a few others from the local delegation, found themselves sitting right behind the Yankee dugout at the game.

According to reports reaching us our friend Dave availed himself of the opportunity to make a few choice comments about Yankees in general and Mantle in particular.

Before it was all over,

Mantle was doing a good imitation of Ted Williams at one of his most heated moments when he's at odds with all those hooters and hollers in the stands.

We've been told it took a couple of groundkeepers and half of the Stadium's storm trooper service to quell the rising ire when Mickey walked back from the plate into the face of Dave's continuing comments.

We don't believe it at all, but for Dave's friends it makes a good yarn, anyway.

P. S.—We understand there's one sure way to make the Yankees win a game. Just send Dave and Al down to watch 'em.

Five Monroe County representatives were present at the First National Conference of Democratic Women in Washington, D. C., recently.

The list includes Mrs. Van D. Yetter, Marshalls Creek; Mrs. Ella Mae Shaw, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Wayne Price, Canadensis; Mrs. John

Stanford, Stroudsburg, and Mrs. Leon Meyung, Canadensis. There were over 2,000 women present at the conference.

Jim Cooper, 103 Smith St., East Stroudsburg, is improving at Graduate Hospital, Philadelphia, and is reportedly on the way to recovery.

He would like to hear from his many friends in this area. Jim is in Room 721.

Bob Westbrook, that popular man around the General Hospital, is having another outstanding trout fishing season.

Catches of 16 inches have been common for the veteran angler.

Horace Strunk, executive secretary of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce and Vacation Bureau, is working overtime in order to make next week's annual Hotel Show a success.

He's leaving no stone unturned.

George Sokolsky Says ...

Fate Of Israel

The state of Israel this year celebrates its tenth anniversary. At this time, as Prince Faisal has said, the Arabs are more devoted than ever to the destruction of Israel.

Incidentally, they also plan to destroy the independence of Lebanon which is about half Moslem and half Christian. From the Arab standpoint, the issue is simple: Israel represents a Western European enclave in the Arabic world. It does not matter that most of the Jewish inhabitants of Israel come from Eastern European, African and Asian countries; the prevailing culture, the political and social systems, the educational methods, the trade and commerce are Western European in all their manifestations.

If Israel has 10 years more of life, its influence upon the youth of surrounding countries will be enormous. Nasser, who seeks to build an Arab empire, and who may succeed with the help of the United States and Soviet Russia—competing against each other for his favor, desires no extraneous cultural or political force in his area.

Nasser will only compromise concerning Israel temporarily for consideration. In a word, if the United States pays for his dam, as it appears that we are planning to do one way or another, he might, upon request, let up on Israel for a time.

No Aid From Russia From Soviet Russia, Israel can expect no aid. Khrushchev is pursuing the anti-Jewish policy which Stalin developed in his latter years, a policy that reverts to the concept of an utterly monolithic societ of the Jan-Slavism of Czarist days.

Whatever those who do not like Jews believe, they do struggle everywhere for human liberty. In the Bolshevik Revolution, it was Jews, Trotsky, Kamenov, Zinoviev, who fought against the tyranny of Stalin and gave their lives for that fight.

Similarly, the Jewish writers in Soviet Russia were the ones who have been somewhat critical of the regime, even if their voices were like a whisper in a tornado. Who knows which of them remains alive?

This kind of independent thinking, Khrushchev does not need and although he boasts of a Jewish son-in-law or some such relation, he has made it clear that he wants no independence of thought, that he wants a tight, centralized organization in which men do as they are told and he does all the thinking.

Jews do not lend themselves readily to such a concept of life. If they are at times out of step, it is because they are compelled by an ancient tradition to speak up. Khrushchev does not need them any more than Nasser needs them or Hitler needed them. Independence is not a desirable quality among dictators.

This, rather than religious differences or the Arab refugee problem, is the basis for the antagonism toward Israel. It will not readily die down and yet there are too many centuries of Jewish life in the Arab world to permit religious difference to be used as an excuse for Arab antagonism toward Jews.

For instance, for centuries there were Jewish principalities in Arab countries. Itzhak Ben-Zvi, President of Israel, has written an ethnological and historical account of this interesting of peoples, entitled, "The Exiled and the Redeemed." This book is neither propaganda nor apology; it is a scientific work.

Particularly interesting are the Jews of Yemen, Kurdistan, Iran, Afghanistan, India and of Bukhara, Crimea and the Caucasus, peoples, in some instances, lost to the Jews altogether, because of historical forces, but some of whom have returned to Palestine since the formation of the state of Israel.

Among those whom Ben-Zvi describes are the peoples of Khazars, the Pathans of Afghanistan, the Benjamites of Kurdistan and Persia, who, while they are no longer Jews, possess in their culture Jewish traditions and customs which are most interesting to those concerned with the formation of races and nationalities. There is too much of this in the Arab world to assume that difference of religion is the basis of hatred.

The attitude is political. It is characteristic of the monolithic concept of the state which Lenin advocated and Stalin implemented. The Khrushchev, Nasser and all the lesser controllers of mankind are imitating this pattern. And under it, the state of Israel, a Western culture in an Eastern setting, might be overwhelmed.

When Hitler was doing such things, the cry was "Genocide!" Who speaks of Genocide today?

Paradise Resident Airls Complaint

AN OFFICIAL of a Paradise Township resort complained to Monroe County yesterday about the condition of a township road running near the hotel.

Appearing before County Commissioners was Steve Marciw, member of the family which owns and operates Pocono Gardens, a honeymoon resort.

Commissioners agreed to visit the site of the road and bridges on it next Monday at 2 p.m.

Utility Lines

Marciw told Commissioners that a bridge on the route is threatened by high waters when heavy rains occur. He said that recently trees fell along the bank and took down primary utility wires.

The resort official said that "clouds of dust" caused by vehicles passing on the unimproved road settled down on resort chalets and cottages and caused a nuisance.

He said he had been unable to get any satisfactory answer from Paradise supervisors on what plans they have for the road.

FIRST-STROUDSBURG NATIONAL BANK

Poconos Win Praise In Bank Article

THE FEDERAL Reserve Bank of Philadelphia lists the Pocono Mountains as the largest and most popular of the mountain resorts in the district served by the bank.

In an article published in the April issue of its Business Review, the bank reported:

"Woods, trails, streams and lakes are the main attractions in the Poconos, an Indian place name meaning 'a stream between mountains.' Here summer affords relief from heat and noise of the city and winter attractions include hunting, skiing and quiet relaxation."

"Monroe and Pike counties combined produced a volume of almost 40 million dollars of vacation spending in 1956. This is the equivalent of over $800 for each permanent resident of the two counties. Monroe County alone is of about the same magnitude as Ocean County, N. J., but the relative impact of the vacation industry is greater in Monroe since the population is smaller."

Camps
"Camps for children and adults plus large self-contained resort hotels typify the Poconos. The very nature of the terrain and the stress on the scenic beauties make a certain amount of self-containment mandatory within any mountain resort."

"The maintenance of hiking trails, the preservation of woodland, and the provision for outdoor sports all necessitate a relatively large portion of unoccupied ground. The result is an extremely heterogeneous business composition."

"The resort hotels and the camps generate a substantial portion of vacation expenditures of the area. Many smaller establishments are also in existence, but they offer fewer services and frequently function as family enterprises."

"Communities of substantial size have not developed in the Poconos. Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg are the only towns of over 2,500 population."

"Variation in accommodations is perhaps more pronounced within the Poconos than elsewhere. Some camps pride themselves on the opportunity for 'roughing it,' and the other extreme is the plush modern hotel with luxurious accommodations."

"Small family-size cabins are also available for those who prefer to plan their own activities and there are numerous guest houses and motels."

Development
"A comparatively recent development within the Pocono area is the sign 'Honeymooners Only' and the sign means just what it says."

"One proprietor explained his position this way: 'These kids are young, just starting life together. Their hearts are filled with love. We can give them a setting that will produce fond memories for the rest of their lives. Our whole program, our whole physical setup is geared for them. We can help them to a good start and it's good business for us. No, we'll stick to honeymooners only.'"

"Others share this philosophy and practice it with profit. As a result, the Poconos have become a rival for Niagara Falls and local partisans claim this is the new honeymoon capital of the country."

The bank estimated that 600 million dollars a year is spent on travel and vacation in mountain and seashore resort areas near Philadelphia.

The figures are the result of a special survey by the bank which will be dealt with at more length by Dr. Evan B. Alderfer, economic adviser for the bank, at a luncheon on Tuesday, April 29, prior to the opening of the annual hotel and restaurant show at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Daily Record Survey

Teachers Suggest Program's Expansion

(EDITOR'S NOTE) This is one of a series of articles on Monroe County education. Each will be based on the results of the county-wide survey conducted by the author for The Daily Record.

By Leonard Randolph
NEARLY all Monroe County classroom teachers agree that in-service education is valuable.

When they were asked for suggestions which would help encourage local school districts to expand such programs, they gave these opinions:

—First we must encourage citizens (taxpayers) to increase expenditures for education. Many teachers today (men particularly) are busy earning the extra monies necessary to adequate support and education of their own children. We must provide extra monetary compensation for in-service training.

—We should allow funds in budgets to bring outstanding teachers and educators to speak and demonstrate on topics chosen by teachers and not administrators.

—Help pay the costs of extra "refresher" courses or workshops. This would encourage more Summer courses.

—We should increase the immediate reward (in salary) over and above State mandated pay. Many of us older teachers continued our education at our own expense as a matter of personal pride in our own work. Younger teachers go for the money. Maybe they have the correct attitude.

—There should be a re-evaluation of necessary qualities of school board members. They must be interested in teachers, also—not just the pupils.

—If we are to have better in-service programs we must provide local school boards with a way of obtaining finances in order to permit such a program. Increasing taxes in accordance with everything else is a must.

—Most administrators are probably convinced they may not admit it) that the old fashioned "institute" is worthless—a waste of teachers time and taxpayers' money. School districts must encourage teachers to take refresher courses by providing remuneration for credits earned.

—We'll have to educate them first. Few school directors see that spending $200 on a teacher's education (providing money to go to college in the Summer) will pay off if one considers what is learned by the student. For books, school buildings, new equipment, the answer is yes—for education of teachers, no.

—There should be more publicity to supervisors and administrators on the need for real in-service training. Most important of all, is to offer some really dynamic courses that will sell themselves to teachers and administrators. Too often, in-service courses are dull and impractical. Any teacher would welcome one that is really a challenge.

—Perhaps the State should increase appropriations to those schools which have in-service programs. If funds were available for setting up such programs, school districts might be more enthusiastic.

—Teachers need to be educated, first, to their need for such programs and then, by educating the public to the need. This would provide the necessary pressure for administrators to exert more effort and expenditures in this direction. Salary increments should be given to only those who attend such a program.

—More adequate salary would often make Summer jobs or night jobs unnecessary and thus give them more time for school work or extra training. We should allow teachers reimbursement for evening classes or Summer school.

—Local school districts and administrative units would provide more of these services if the public realized the value of same and did less criticizing. Quite a large number of teachers (although still in the minority) are opposed to "in-service" programs, as such they are more in favor of "visitation" by local teachers to other schools.

In the opinion of this group, the teacher learns far more from an on-the-spot demonstration of teaching methods or techniques which are new to him (and perhaps better than those he is using) than he does sitting through lectures on how to teach.

There is a middle ground between these two approaches. And many of those who advocate "in-

Road-e-o

A TOTAL of 48 applications have been received so far in preliminary plans for the Jaycees "Teen-Age Road-e-o."

The safe-driving contests will be held Saturday at 12:30 p.m. in the parking lot to the rear of Stroud Union High School.

Walt Redel, publicity chairman for Pocono Mountains Jaycees, sponsors of the local contest, said last night that this is "the highest number of applicants in the four year history of the local Road-e-o."

New Applicants

New applicants, Redel said, are: John Austin, John Regina, Andrew Squires, Kenneth Johns, Charles Miller, Bruce Kessler, Fred Angle, Louis Hummel, Stephen Van Campen, Richard Courtright, Melvin Manhart, Jr., and Ellis Nitrauer, all from East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School; Graydon Miller, Ronald Gouger, Jerilyn Walker, Donald Harmer, Bill Bolich, Carol Willhoite and Art Fry, all of Stroud Union High School.

"The safe driving contest is an example of community concern and interest for better driving," Redel said. "The Road-e-o couldn't be successful without the interest and cooperation of teenagers, parents, educators, traffic authorities and community leaders."

DELAWARE WATER GAP—Delaware Water Gap Firemen will hold a spaghetti supper starting at 5 p.m. Saturday in the fire hall. Organ music will be provided through the courtesy of an East Stroudsburg music store.

County Sign Survey May End Next Week

COMPLETION OF a recently launched survey to determine the number of signs and billboards located within the right-of-way limits of highways in Monroe County is expected sometime next week.

As the initial survey is completed, a second will follow close at its heels to learn whether or not the advertisements are being moved as directed by highway department officials.

This was asserted last night by Joseph Ciampi, superintendent of county highways. He also reported that the survey thus far has found some 255 signs positioned within the rights-of-way limits.

The survey was recommended approximately two weeks ago by state highways department officials.

Purpose of the move, according to officials, was to direct the removal of the signs from the rights-of-way.

The units are considered by some traffic engineers and authorities as hazardous distraction to the motoring public.

Most offenders — illegally positioned signs and billboards — were found along the two federal highways running through the county. Nearly 200 of the total number to date were discovered along U.S. Routes 611 and 209.

Other rights-of-way limits on heavily traveled highways in the county appear to be less cluttered with the signs, Ciampi said.

Conditions along these roads, he remarked, "look very good."

Advertisers maintaining the signs within the limits have either been contacted by telephone or letter for re-positioning of the signs.

Response to the directives have been favorable, he continued, with most persons or firms offering full cooperation. Many, he added, were unaware the signs were within the limits and requested information concerning the extent of the restricted area.

In other highway department developments, the local official reported maintenance crews are currently repairing and rebuilding road shoulders and holes in pavement inflicted during the Winter.

There is also a road sign and marker cleanup project in progress, he said, in an effort to have the area highways and roads "in shape by Memorial Day."

The late snow this year, he noted, delayed the maintenance program. "Usually," he said, the maintenance work is caught up by now.

Final completion of this program, he concluded, will pave the way for beginning the various construction projects slated throughout the county during the Summer months.

Commissioners Set Date For Appeal On Tax Assessment

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS yesterday set June 19 as the appeal date for hearings on assessments which have been added to the tax duplicate.

This step was taken after Chief Assessor George Brands informed Commissioners that work on 1958 assessments is now complete. Brands said that all assessment books have been made up and bound.

New Cabinet

He also told the board that his office will need a new file cabinet to store the prepared books.

In discussion of assessments, Solicitor L. A. Achterman told Brands that unless new buildings were completed or reasonably completed in 1957 they should not be included on the assessments rolls.

Middletown School Board Postpones Hiring Of Whitehead

Wishes Personal Interview With Stroudsburg Coach

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y.—The official appointment of John Whitehead, Stroudsburg High football coach, as head grid boss of Middletown, N. Y. high was tabled for at least a week at a meeting of the Middletown School Board last night.

Whitehead, the Number One candidate for the vacancy, was invited to attend a meeting of the school board sometime next week before the board takes official action on the football vacancy.

The personable Stroudsburg mentor had informed Stroud Union Superintendent of Schools Earl Groner yesterday of his intentions to take the Middletown opening.

Whitehead plans to hand in his official resignation when the Middletown Board officially elects him to the grid job.

Recommended

It was expected to be a mere formality last night in hiring Whitehead. The superintendent of schools, upon the recommendation of Middletown Athletic Director Jack Hughes, requested the board to appoint the Stroudsburg High coach to the position.

However, for the first time in years, the board didn't follow the superintendent's wishes and set up a motion, whereby Whitehead was invited to have a personal interview with members of the board.

Board Impressed

The board was very much impressed with recommendations of persons who wrote extolling Whitehead's coaching and personality.

It was reported that the post was offered to Whitehead last Saturday. The Stroudsburg mentor, it was announced, accepted the position at that time.

If Whitehead is named to the grid position he will be succeeding John Nania who was not rehired after last football season.

In Grid Slump

Middletown has been in the throes of a football slump, having won only three games the last three years.

Middletown athletic director Hughes had been dickering with Whitehead to take the post the past three months.

Middletown has a population of more than 22,000 and yearly has more than 100 candidates for its high school eleven.

Stroud Union's school board only recently rehired Whitehead to coach football in the 1959 season. He was the only varsity mentor hired for next year at this particular session.

Nixon, Minoos Home Runs Pace Tribe Past Chisox

CLEVELAND (AP)—Home runs by Russ Nixon and Minnie Minoos and a two-run double by Chico Carraquel sparked the Cleveland Indians to a 6-4 victory over the slumping Chicago White Sox Thursday. It was Chicago's fifth straight loss.

The White Sox got four runs and chased starter Dick Tomaneck in the fifth inning for their only flurry.

The victory went to Don Mossi, who relieved Tomaneck in the fifth and stopped the Chicago rally which featured six straight hits.

Cleveland piled up an early lead against loser Jim Wilson, and was ahead 5-0 when the Sox rallied. Until then, Tomaneck had not permitted a hit.

A double by Bobby Avila and Nixon's homer staked the Indians to a 2-0 lead after two innings. A second double by Avila and Minoos' single scored another run. With two men on, Carraquel hit a two-bagger to left field, scoring the winning runs.

The slaughter attracted 10,194 fans, the smallest turnout of the season here.

Walls, a 25-year-old outfielder who once played in these parts for the Hollywood Stars, drove in eight runs with his three homers, all of which sailed over the 250-foot left-field screen. He got one off Don Drysdale in the first, another off Roger Craig in the fifth and the third off Ron Negray in the seventh.

There were three other homers in the game. Bobby Thomson, who hit a game-winning double for the Cubs Wednesday, planted one into the left-center field seats about 380 feet from home. Charlie Neal scored a 420-foot shot into the center field stands for one Los Angeles run and Don Zimmer homered over the left field screen for the other.
